Courtroom Applications of the Nomad

Reduce Time in Court: By making evidence presentation more efficient, cases can be handled more expeditiously.

Flexibility of Format: A variety of equipment linked to the LCD projector allow evidence and arguments to be presented from many formats including VHS tape, CD, DVD, and Powerpoint as well as other PC software. Images and enlargements of physical evidence may be projected using the document camera.

Professional Presentations: Electronic evidence and presentation reduces the need for awkward "storyboards" with hard-to-see images. Greater detail and better understanding of the evidence is achieved when the evidence is projected onto a large screen.

Annotation: When evidence is presented, the annotation feature allows the presenting attorney to write or draw over the image of the evidence to highlight important points and to recreate motion or direction. The remote annotation monitor allows a witness the same capability.
